

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

Enabling a symbolic image representing the service provider or information provider to be displayed on a user terminal, displaying the predetermined domain for sending an application for use of services and of information and an application for use of services and distribution of information and adjustment of amount and content of information to be distributed for the service provider and information distributing source by detecting that a symbolic image has been moved to the predetermined domain.